

Hike In Water Rate Limited By Council

5 Per Cent Ceiling Set As Maximum

Jan. 1 Raise Of 35 Per Cent Is Not In Effect

By D. Kelly Scruton

The City Council Tuesday night, enacted an ordinance limiting the powers of the Board of Public Works in the operation of the Sedalia Water Department in respect to increasing water rates and respecting the purchase of real estate. The Council put a limit of not more than five per cent increase in rates over and above the rate in force as of Nov. 1, 1960.

The ordinance specifies the Board of Public Works without the permission of the City Council may increase water charges to the extent of five percent over and above the rate in force Nov. 1, 1960, and if such an increase be made in any given year, no further increase may be made for a period of three years thereafter. That upon the expiration of three years, a further increase can be granted not to exceed five per cent of the then prevailing rate. Any additional increase shall not exceed five per cent in any one year, nor shall increases be made except at three year intervals, except otherwise provided in this ordinance.

That the Board of Public Works, with the consent and approval of the City Council, may when it is deemed advisable, increase the cost of water service to its customers in excess of five per cent over the rate in force as of Nov. 1, 1960, or prevailing rate at the time such increase is required.

In the fourth section of the ordinance, the Board of Public Works shall not acquire or contract to acquire any real estate, without having first received the permission and approval of the City Council.

The ordinance went into effect and in full force immediately after passage and approval. The ordinance was signed immediately by Mayor Abe Silverman.

Councilman E. B. Smith took the floor after the third reading of the ordinance and stated: "This action, as taken by the members of the Council, is an attempt to create a better understanding between the Water Department and the City Council."

State Roads To Get Oil Treatment

The Missouri State Highway Commission has approved oil surface treatment for 564.4 miles of the state's secondary (farm to market) system highways during the summer months of 1961. These improvements extend into 82 counties of the state and will cost about $846,600.

The 1961 oiling program will further continue the commission's efforts to supply additional dust-free highways as a service to highway users.

Included on the list are sections with an estimated average daily traffic of 100 or more vehicles per day, together with a few gaps and short isolated gravel sections.

Actual application of oil on the road will not begin until next spring or summer, since that type of work is a warm or hot weather operation.

Roads in the Sedalia trade area to get oil treatment are in these counties:

Moniteau: Route Y—Five miles from Route 41 north.

Morgan: Route JJ—Two miles from Route 135 northeast.

Cooper: Route 0—One mile from Route MM north.

Howard: Route 0—4.1 miles from Route M to Route BB.

Route U—one mile from Route 3 east; and Route J—four miles from Route 87 east to present oil.

Johnson: Route U—2.6 miles from present oil north; and Route J—5.3 miles from Route E to the Lafayette county line.

Henry: Route TT—1.3 miles from the Benton County line northwest; and Route AA—1.5 miles from present oil south.

Other Business at Council Meet

Name Urban Renewal Advisory Committee

The City Council took another step toward applying for federal assistance on a Urban Renewal Program Monday night when a resolution was unanimously adopted to notify the authorities of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency of Sedalia interest in the plan.

After the adoption of the resolution Mayor Abe Silverman announced he desired to appoint a Urban Renewal Citizens Advisory Committee to make a preliminary investigation as to its advisability. The mayor explained the committee would work with the original committee on low housing rentals as both plans went hand-in-hand.

Silverman presented the names of Clinton Mueller, Neal O. Reynolds, Harry Browder, Herbert W. Mason and Mrs. Robert J. Fritz, as members of the new committee. They were given unanimous approval by the council.

Mayor Silverman announced a desire to fill a vacancy on the city traffic committee. The vacancy is due to the recent death of Cline Cain. He placed the name of W. A. Smith of Smith Motor Co. before the Council as the new member and chairman of the committee. The appointment of Smith was unanimously approved.

Councilman E. Glenn Lewis of the street and alley committee, announced the department was seeking bids for the proper lumber to be used in flooring the old Washington Avenue viaduct over the Missouri Pacific railroad. He anticipated the bids would soon be obtained and the bridge fully repaired.

Councilman Earl Paxton under police, gas and light committee, announced two bids received for a water cooler-drinking fountain for the police station. One bid from the Grotzinger Refrigeration

Belgian Rift Appears To Have Ended

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian government today appeared to have broken the back of the 16-day-old strike in Brussels. But the Socialist-led unions fought doggedly on in many parts of the country.

Union efforts to close the capital's department stores flopped badly this morning when determined policemen shooed away between 200 and 300 pickets.

The pickets—about 40 per cent of them women—walked meekly away.

Postal deliveries also improved in the capital. Streetcars and buses seemed to be as plentiful as in normal times.

The Socialist newspaper "Le Peuple" claimed that 200,000 persons demonstrated throughout Belgium Tuesday against Prime Minister Gaston Eyskens' austerity program of higher taxes and lower social security benefits. The government estimated the total at 75,000, a figure given credence by the 9,000 turnout in Brussels.

With the government coalition parties—the Social Christians and Conservative liberals—backing him, the prime minister won four votes on various motions Tuesday in Parliament. Eyskens' backers considered them votes of confidence.

Antwerp, Belgium's biggest port, remained partially paralyzed but a department store strike fizzled there also.

But in Soignies, near the southern industrial city of Charleroi, police broke up rowdy demonstrations with bayonets. In Liege and at Namur most stores remained shut and transport was at a near standstill.

Powell New District Road Commissioner

David Powell, Hughesville, was elected commissioner of Hughesville's special road district No. 11, in a regular election held Tuesday. Powell was elected on the basis of 29 votes and will serve a three-year term.

Out-going commissioner Farris Zimmerman ran for re-election, but received only six votes of the 47 ballots cast. E. B. "Dutch" Martin also ran for the office, but was given only 12 votes.

Co., was $389.30 less $122.40 trade in for the old fountain, and total cost for fountain installation to be $266.80. The fountain cools 12½ gallons of water an hour. The second bid was from the Independent Plumbing Co. for a fountain cooling 5½ gallons an hour, complete with installation at $180.76. The two bids were referred to the public buildings and grounds committee for study.

The following officers reports for the month of December were read and approved. Paul Alpert, city collector, approximately $240,000 in taxes collected. The figure, it was explained was not

Challengers Just 'Hot And Mad'

Moulder Says Other Objections Were Also Raised

"They are just hot and mad," Congressman Morgan M. Moulder, of Camden, remarked in reference to the objection of Rep. William E. Miller (R-NY) which delayed the seating of Moulder at the opening of the 87th session of Congress Tuesday. Congressman Moulder talked to the Democrat-Capitol Tuesday evening in the incident.

Rep. Miller, chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, had challenged his re-election and the seating of Moulder.

Rep. Moulder explained the Republicans had also objected to the seating of Rep. Victor T. Wickersham (D-Okla.) at the same time. Moulder said that both Rep. Wickersham and himself took their seats.

An objection was placed against the seating of Rep. Mrs. Chambers (R-Ind.). On this resolution the Congress voted to refer her election to the Committee on Administration.

After Congress had been sworn in a resolution was introduced by Democratic Floor Leader Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts, for the seating and giving the oath to Congressmen Moulder and Wickersham, and it was approved on voice vote by Congress and the two congressmen were then sworn in immediately.

Moulder explained the objection

2 Robberies Solved At Laundromats

Cooperation between the sheriff's office and police department Tuesday evening cleared up two robberies at the Thrifty Laundromat, Broadway and Emmett. Three juveniles admitted to Sheriff Emmett Fairfax and Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin they had robbed coin machines at that place twice.

Sheriff Fairfax received a tip Tuesday of a youngster who had changed small coins for larger denominations of money at Smithton. Sheriff Fairfax and Deputy Jack Couts went to Smithton and obtained enough information and description to pick up one of the boys.

They went to police headquarters and with Chief Hamlin began questioning the boy. When it was learned he was a juvenile, Cecil Glenn, juvenile officer was contacted.

As the hours passed police officers rounded up other boys and by 8:30 these boys had admitted participating in robbing the coin changers.

J. T. Hobdy, operator of the laundromat, explained damages to the changers far exceeded the money obtained.

The boys denied robbing the Dutch-Maid Coin-O-Matic laundry at Seventh and Emmett several weeks ago. However, it was said they will be questioned further regarding similar robberies.

The trio was taken before Prose-

Nuclear Reactor Explodes

3 Men Killed By New-style Reactor Blast

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho—(AP)—A new-style nuclear reactor blew up Tuesday night, killed three men and touched off a high level of deadly radiation in a building at one of America's major atomic testing stations.

The Atomic Energy Commission quickly sealed off the area and said there was no danger to other parts of the station or Idaho Falls, a city of 34,000 persons 40 miles away.

But the building itself was so "radioactively hot" that only one of the three bodies could be recovered in the first nine hours after the blast.

A team of radiological experts, eerie looking in their baggy white suits with heavy protective shoes, gloves and mask, shuffled in and out of the building to inspect damage and test the radiation.

They went in one at a time and could stay only minutes. The AEC said it would send airplanes aloft to check the level and direction of

US Citizens Expected To Leave Cuba

First Wave Due To Depart There At Any Moment

HAVANA (AP)—The U.S. Embassy today made arrangements for the speedy exodus of Americans from Cuba and urged all to depart in the wake of President Eisenhower's decision to break diplomatic relations with the Fidel Castro government.

The first wave of departing diplomats and other Americans was expected this afternoon.

An unusually courteous note from the Cuban government, however, suggested there was no need for haste. It pledged the "most absolute guarantees" of safety for all American citizens—residents, tourists and diplomats alike.

The note, delivered after the Cabinet in an emergency meeting had considered the White House announcement of the break, also offered to extend the 48-hour period given all but 11 members of the embassy staff to get out of Cuba. The 48-hour period expires this afternoon.

It further emphasized the amenities by offering "in concordance with the norms of international right, every kind of facility" for the removal of the embassy's office equipment and other property.

The Castro government said it in turn would withdraw its diplomatic personnel from the United States as speedily as possible and turn its representation in the United States over to Communist Czechoslovakia's diplomats.

The American colony in Cuba is estimated at between 500 and 2,000. The embassy urged all to leave unless they have "compelling reasons" to remain.

There was no immediate rush of agitated Americans to the embassy, however, and many were expected to remain in Cuba. Several small American businesses have escaped the nationalization that has wiped out most of the billion-dollar American investment in Cuba. A number of Americans still here are married to Cubans and have lived here for years.

Diplomatic Break Won't Effect Base

WASHINGTON — (P) — The White House said today the breaking of diplomatic relations with Cuba "has no effect on the status of our naval base at Guantanamo." Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said: "The treaty rights under which we maintain the naval station may not be abrogated without the consent of the United States."

Welfare Bills Get S-1 Ticket

Demo Leaders Start Drive To Get Bills Okayed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senate Democratic leaders have started a drive to get through Congress the first of the social welfare bills President-elect John F. Kennedy has pledged to back.

No. 1 is the depressed areas bill. It was learned today that Senate Democratic leaders will give it the "S.1." ticket as the first Senate bill introduced this year.

The measure again will be offered by Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and will be similar to another bill of his in the last Congress, passed by the Senate, and vetoed by President Eisenhower.

Among other measures on the Kennedy list sure to follow are medical care for the aged tied to Social Security, raising the minimum wage and federal aid to schools.

But before they buckle down to business both House and Senate were embroiled today in their perennial fights over matters pertaining to civil rights legislation.

In the Senate, the fight centered on a proposed rules change to

County Clerk Has To Return Big Check

DETROIT (AP)—Wayne County Clerk Edgar M. Branigan got a $9,900,001.80 check in the mail Tuesday, but it was a mistake.

A letter enclosed with the check indicated Gertrude Balongue of Phoenix, Ariz., meant to send a check for $1.80 for a copy of her divorce decree.

Somebody in the First National Bank of Arizona in Phoenix apparently pushed too many buttons. The check is being returned.

With Hot Mixed Asphalt

City Council Hears Report On Resurfacing 61 Blocks

The City Council at its Monday night meeting heard the plan of the Street and Alley Department to resurface 61 blocks of paving with a hot mixed asphalt. Councilman E. Glenn Lewis gave the report as planned by the committee and City Engineer R. W. Cunningham.

Lewis explained the costs of the paving varies in accordance with the width of the various streets, and condition of the present concrete and brick pavement, and necessary improvements on some streets in widening and as well as changing dangerous jogs in others.

He pointed out the costs would range from $2.15 per front foot to $4.35 per front foot.

Ohio Avenue (brick): Broadway to 11th, 40 foot width at $3.98 and 11th to 13th, 40 foot width at $4.35. Estimates includes widening pavement at northwest corner and southwest corner of 12th Street intersection. Ohio: 13th to 16th, 40 feet at $3.78.

Park Avenue (all concrete): 2nd to 3rd, 24 feet at $2.08; 3rd to 5th, 24 feet at $2.18; 5th to Broadway, 24 feet at $2.53.

Quincy Avenue (brick): 3rd to 5th, 25 feet at $2.25, 5th to Broadway, 25 feet at $2.72.

Tenth Street: Prospect to Shaw, 24 feet (concrete base) $2.17. Massachusetts (brick): 10th to 13th, 30 feet at $2.70.

Recess Forced During Talk By Cuba's Roa

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—An anti-Cuba demonstration broke out in the public gallery of the U.N. Security Council today during a speech by Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa. The outbreak forced a recess in the council meeting.

U.N. guards quickly moved in on the demonstrators as they heckled the Cuban foreign minister, but when the shouting persisted the council president, Ambassador Omar Loufi of the United Arab Republic, ordered a recess.

Roa had just begun presenting Cuba's charges that a U.S. invasion of Cuba is imminent. Roa said Tuesday night's break of U.S.-Cuban relations would contribute to the increasing tension.

Just at this point, shouts broke out in the crowded gallery. The demonstrators yelling in Spanish such words as "murderer," "Liar" and "Communist."

The meeting was resumed after 10 minutes. Eight of the demonstrators were ejected by U.N. guards. They said they were members of the Cuban Revolutionary Front, a Cuban exile group opposed to Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Roa took the floor after the United States had accused Castro of deliberately forcing the breach of relations between the two countries.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the U.N. Security Council: (Please Turn to Page 2 Col. 3)

Lawmakers Set to Work At Capital

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Missouri's 71st General Assembly opened its doors today, ready to pass laws and make history during the next six busy months.

For 47 new representatives and seven new senators it was the start of a new adventure.

But for some of the old timers there was grim realization the session faced some of the toughest problems in many years—raising more money to run the state government, congressional and senatorial redistricting and dozens of others.

As the session opened, 286 bills were already drafted by the legislative research staff, ready for introduction.

In addition to getting organized with new leadership in both houses, the big event of the opening day was the farewell message of retiring Gov. James T. Blair, scheduled for mid-afternoon.

From four years of experience in the governor's office, he distilled a final set of recommendations.

US Holds Door Open For Laos

While Hoping For A Solution; US Standing Ready

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States held the door open today to a satisfactory political solution to the civil war in Laos, but maintained a posture of military readiness if called upon to defend the tiny Southeast Asian kingdom.

Authorities here said there is little doubt extensive Soviet and Communist North Vietnamese participation in military operations against the royal Laos government are timed to catch the United States at a period of maximum disadvantage.

The outgoing administration of President Eisenhower turns over responsibility to President-elect John F. Kennedy in a scant 16 days. Officials believe the Communists are seeking to exploit any advantage they can find in the meantime.

The State Department Tuesday put on the record the Soviet and North Vietnamese airlift of arms to Communist forces in Laos. In a statement it cited 184 observed flights by Soviet transport planes carrying war material to rebel forces. The bulk of the arms deliveries went to Vang Vieng, a rebel concentration point about 60 miles north of Vientiane.

Bogus Check Writer Is Apprehended

The writer of one series of bad checks, passed on Sedalia merchants during the busy Christmas shopping season, has been apprehended and is to be returned to Sedalia for trial.

On Dec. 9, according to the information leading to the arrest of the check writer, a woman giving the name of Helen McCarthy and a Knob Noster address, opened an account with the Sedalia Bank and Trust Co., depositing $10 in the new account.

Shortly thereafter, the dates on the checks show, the woman started writing checks and passing them in Sedalia stores, using the newly-opened account as identification. According to Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin, several stores were victimized in the total amount of more than $300.

The woman disappeared, but according to Hamlin, she left behind enough information to lead to her arrest in Kilgus, Idaho, this week. A warrant charging her with the Sedalia check incident has been issued. Hamlin said the woman would be extradited and returned to Missouri.

Hamlin gave the woman's intelligence and past experience as one reason the merchants cashed the checks. She has a long record of such offenses, he added, and prior to her criminal record, she worked for several years in police and private investigation work in California.

Versailles Man Dies

VERSAILLES, Mo. (AP)—Samuel Isaac Elliott, 63, of Versailles was killed today when a Rock Island freight train struck his stalled car at a private crossing about six miles east of Versailles. Elliott owned the land on both sides of the track. The highway patrol said he apparently stopped for the crossing, then started across but stalled.

THE WINNER—The first Pettis County baby born in 1961, and the winner of merchandise being donated by Sedalia merchants is the daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bellmer, 1124 Crescent Drive, at Bothwell Hospital at 4:07 a.m. Jan. 1. The baby, who has been named Ellen Marie, weighed seven pounds, 6½ ounces. Dr. Donald Proctor, Joe. J. and Mary Kathryn, 1½ years old, Mrs. Bellmer is the former Mary Jo Weller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Weller, 916 West Tenth. Bellmer is employed in the men's department of the J. C. Penney store in Sedalia. Mrs. Bellmer was delighted at the news that her baby was the first arrival, and stated, "I wonder if the Internal Revenue Department will go along with the Sedalia merchants and let us carry the baby as an income tax exemption for 1960?" Coroner's Jury Rules Shooting Was Justifiable

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A county Coroner's Jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide Tuesday in the death of a suburban Des Moines shot to death during an attempted burglary Monday.

Charles Stephen Ruhl, 17, was killed when he and another youth fled from suburban Creve Coeur Patrolman Thomas Gooch. The officer testified that he interrupted a burglary at a service station and the pair fled after he identified himself.

The officer said he fired two shots in the air and then two each at the fleeing youths. Ruhl was struck and killed. Charles L. Holland, 20, of St. Louis County, was arrested later at his home and charged with burglary. Bond was set at $3,000.

Holland said he drove Ruhl to the service station but balked when Ruhl said he was going to break into it.

Authorities said Holland served 90 days in the county jail for petty larceny in 1958. Ruhl had no record.

ity Council the United States had worked hard to prevent "the leaders of Cuba from choking off our friendly relations but that is what they seemed determined to do."

Wadsworth spoke shortly after the council met to consider Cuban charges that the United States is planning an invasion of Cuba. He began by referring to Tuesday night's decision by the White House to break diplomatic relations with the Castro regime.

Before the meeting Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa told a reporter that the U.S. decision had proved the Cuban charges. Commenting on the break of relations, he said: "It proves my charges," "false and hysterical."

He said they were a fresh reminder of "the strategy of harassment by which they brought us—I really think on purpose—to last night's decision."

"Over nearly two years," Wadsworth said, "they have piled insult upon injury to a point where our diplomacy could not function any more."

Forecasting the tone of the American reply, a U.S. spokesman called the charges "the latest in a series of lies" by the government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro. It is the second time Cuba has accused the United States before the United Nations of invasion plans.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa was on hand to press the new charges before the 11-nation council. He said in a written complaint last Saturday that the United States was about to "perpetrate, within a few hours, direct military aggression" against Cuba.

The U.S. delegation after consultation with council members was reported confident Roa would find little support except from the Soviet Union.

Most council members professed to be puzzled by Cuba's motives in bringing before the United Nations a third set of charges of aggression against the United States.

When the Security Council heard Cuba's charges of economic aggression last July, it voted 9 to 0, with the Soviet Union and Poland abstaining, to shunt the case to the Organization of American States (OAS).

Cuba failed last October in efforts to get its charges that the United States was planning a large-scale invasion debated before the full U.N. Assembly. The 21-nation Steering Committee voted 12-3 to send the complaint to the Political Committee, where it is awaiting debate when the assembly reconvenes next March.

So far no U.N. body has found a basis for Cuba's charges. In his letter to the council, Roa said the United States had circulated a confidential note to Latin American governments inciting military action would be taken against Cuba on the pretext that 17 sites for launching Soviet rockets are being constructed in Cuba.

Roa said the Cuban government has in its possession evidence of this "sinister plan" conceived by the Central Intelligence Agency in close collaboration with the Pentagon.

James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, already has replied to the charges in one word: "Nuts."

Further cooperation between the two departments was indicated with the arrest of Capt. G. C. Stephens, Route 2, at the Sedalia Airport at 5 a. m. Wednesday. Stephens, stationed at Whiteman AFB, has been charged with assault, on complaint of his wife.

The police department received a request from Sheriff Emmett Fairfax to pick up Stephens at 2 a. m. The captain was arrested ten minutes later by the police, then turned over to Fairfax later in the morning.

Explosion

radiation. A southwest wind, however, was blowing at the time and would take any radiation over populated areas.

The three victims, identified only as military personnel, were trainees learning to operate the reactor, known as "Stationary low-power reactor No. 1." It is a prototype of a small nuclear reactor being developed for use by the Army in remote areas.

In Washington, it was reported that two of those killed were Army men and one an Air Force man.

The accident occurred at 9:30 p.m. The three men killed were the only ones in the building. At least 60 are on duty there in the daytime.

It was the first fatal accident in 11 years of operation at the National Reactor Testing Station, a major AEC installation.

It may be weeks before the AEC knows exactly what happened. But a spokesman said it apparently was a chemical explosion.

About 4,500 permanent employees work at the station west of here and the AEC said it planned no changes in their schedules today. The engine for America's first atomic submarine was developed at the site and tests are now being conducted there on a variety of projects, including a power plant for an atomic airplane.

The radiological crew members who entered the metal building pieced together this picture of the explosion:

The experimental reactor, being developed as a portable source of electric power and heat for the armed forces, apparently "blew its top."

The reactor and the boiling water in which it is immersed are housed in a metal shell which was not penetrated. This is capped by a metal cover through which fuel and control rods run to reach the enriched uranium core of the reactor.

The reactor is housed in the basement, where the explosion apparently occurred. The blast did not appear to have penetrated above the basement. The exterior of the building was not damaged.

The AEC said any theories on the cause of the explosion would be purely guesswork pending the report of a group of investigators being flown from Washington, D.C.

However, the AEC spokesmen said it probably was a chemical explosion, possibly caused by a reaction between aluminum components of the reactor and the boiling water.

The reactor would have two

Headon Crash Kills Woman And Hurts Two

LITCHFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A woman was killed and two persons critically injured in an unusual headon collision on U. S. highway 66 near Litchfield Tuesday.

The dead woman was identified as Evella Gibson of Tulsa, Okla. She was a passenger in a car driven by Paul Bigby, 44, whom police identified as a Tulsa minister. He was reported in critical condition at St. Francis Hospital in Litchfield.

Also reported critical was Mrs. Goldie Eckhoff, 25, of Edwardsville, Ill., the other driver. She was alone in her car.

Illinois State Police said the north-bound Bigby car went out of control at high speed, careened through a wide ditch dividing the four-lane highway, flew up into the air and landed on the front end of the south-bound Eckhoff auto.

The Litchfield Fire Dept. had to cut Mrs. Eckhoff out of the wreckage.

make it easier to halt a filibuster—the ancient weapon of the Southerners to talk a civil rights bill to death.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., has proposed that three-fifths of the Senate—60 senators—could vote to cut off debate. At present a two-thirds majority of all present and voting is needed.

Another proposal is to cut the requirement to a simple majority of 51 senators. That is backed by Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif.

Southern senators spoke sharply against any rules change and prepared an arsenal of parliamentary moves to fight it. The new majority leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, said he hoped the issue could be settled this week.

In the House, Speaker Sam Rayburn and other Democratic leaders are determined to curb the power of a Southern Democratic coalition in the Rules Committee that often has blocked liberal legislation.

"The only question," said one, "is whether it is done painlessly or the hard way. It is going to be done, one way or the other."

The hard way would be to remove Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., from the committee and replace him with a liberal. He is one of the two Southerners who vote with Republicans on the committee.

Another way would be to increase the size of the committee and pack it with liberals. If something is not done, the leadership feels, much of the Kennedy program might get stuck in this bottleneck.

Senate liberals found themselves blocked in another move for a larger voice in party policy matters.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., had prepared a resolution for a party caucus calling for direct election by senators of members of the party policy committee. At present the majority leader appoints the members.

But it turned out there were no vacancies on the policy committee, in spite of the death of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of Missouri and the retirement of Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island.

Outgoing Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, soon to be vice president, had filled both these spots last summer. That apparently leaves Gore's resolution with no foundation all the way down the line.

Johnson, who used his power as majority leader to the hilt, apparently will figure in Senate Democratic strategy even after he steps up to the vice presidency.

Senate Republicans were also having disagreements. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, New York liberal, has suggested that Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona conservative, be replaced as chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee.

Goldwater, retorted that he doesn't want the job anymore, but won't be pushed out of it by Javits.

functions in actual use—to generate steam which in turn would generate power, and to use the steam and boiling water to provide heat for barracks at remote installations.

Intervention False

MOSCOW (AP)—Izvestia represented the Eisenhower administration Tuesday night as deliberately lying about Communist intervention in Laos.

The government newspaper said word that Communist forces had invaded Laos was a Washington invention "so false and clumsy that America's allies, especially Britain, refuse to support it."

widening pavement on east side of Kentucky south of 12th, and on west side of 12th north.) This proposed widening would not be needed if Kentucky from Broadway to 16th St. is restricted to one-way traffic. Kentucky: 13th to 16th, 24 feet at $2.22; 16th to 19th, 24 feet at $2.22.

Fourth Street (brick): Osage to Kentucky, 40 feet at $2.94; Kentucky to Missouri, 30 feet at $2.54; Missouri to Grand, 30 feet at $2.56.

Fifth Street (brick): Osage to Kentucky, 30 feet at $2.15; Kentucky to Missouri, 30 feet at $2.54; Missouri to Grand, 30 feet at $2.41.

Seventh (brick): Osage to Kentucky, 30 feet at $2.15; Kentucky to Missouri, 30 feet at $2.54; Missouri to Grand, 30 feet at $2.40.

An estimate was prepared for widening pavement on west side of Park Avenue, adjoining Liberty Park from 24-foot width to 30-foot width with six-inch concrete pavement with six-inch edge curb, $3,060.

Lewis also pointed out in his report that brick paving on Ohio dates back to 1906; on Quincy to 1908; Massachusetts to 1907; Osage to 1912; Kentucky to 1907; Fourth Street to 1895 (this does not refer to turning the bricks over in WPA days); Fifth to 1895 (pavement also turned over by WPA); Seventh to 1912 (pavement turned over by WPA).

No date was given when the concrete paving was poured, but it was back about 1915.

It was announced by Mayor Abe Silverman a remonstrance had already been received on the program from residents on Quincy. The petition signed was referred to the Street and Alley committee.

Lewis then stated the program is just a plan and up to the property owners. We are not going to improve the streets against the people's will—we need the people. As to petitions, Lewis recalled a petition on a street up for improvement last year stating: "There was one with just about as many names for it as one that was against it. Surprisingly, both petitions contained nearly the same signatures," Lewis said.

"It is the time the people make up their minds just what they want. We are willing to go along, but it is up to the people as to what they want," Lewis said.

tions for the lawmakers—including many they have rejected previously.

The opening day bustle marked the beginning of the first legislature to operate under a constitutional amendment approved by the voters last Nov. 8.

It will extend the final adjournment date from May 31 to July 15 but actual work on bills will stop June 30 with the final two weeks for bill signing and clerical chores.

The legislators for the first time also will be drawing $4,800 a year salaries instead of the old $1,500. The new rate was set at a special session of the old legislature two weeks ago. A court test of its validity is expected, especially at it applies to 15 holdover senators.

After getting organized and settled for business, both House and Senate are expected to mark time until next week. Gov.-elect John M. Dalton will be inaugurated Monday and two days later, on Wednesday, will give the main outlines of his administration's program at a joint House-Senate session.

Dalton's tax and highway recommendations will come in later special messages.

McCurry Twirlers Start New Year With a Dance

Lots of dancing, fun and food helped the McCurry Twirlers Square Dance Club start 1961. A New Year's Eve dance was held at Convention Hall.

The hall was colorfully decorated with bunches of large and small balloons suspended from the light fixtures and all around the windows, hanging from these were colored streamers. At one end of the room on the wall was "Happy New Year from McCurry Twirlers" in colored letters.

The coffee table had a gold cloth and baby 1961 in the center with Happy New Year in cut out letters in front. The food table had a centerpiece of balloons with two decorated as Mr. and Mrs. New Year.

Ray McCurry was the caller with Morris Hinken and John League each calling a tip. Colored hats for everyone were used as a mixer dance and at midnight the balloons were cut down and popped and noise makers were passed out to the group. Confetti and streamers were also used to make a gala evening.

Ray and Jo McCurry, Everett and Ruth Kemp, Jewel and Helen Meyer and John and Betty League helped on the committee.

The next club dance will be Thursday night, Jan. 5, at 8 p.m. at Convention Hall.

William Holden Tells How The Right Insurance Saved Him From Big Loss

tion picture actor William Holden. "At the time it happened, all I knew was in a cablegram. It read, 'Don't worry. Part of house burned.'"

William Holden goes on to say there was a happy ending to the story. When he returned to the United States several weeks later he found that the insurance claim had already been paid, and his home was already completely repaired. In fact, he had to ask, "Where was the fire?" because the repair job was so perfect.

William Holden has nothing but praise for his independent insurance agent. "In the first place he makes sure you're insured only with companies that pay claims promptly and fairly. Then, if you have a loss, he helps you collect. You get first-class service—and protection—all along the line."

You, too, can count on getting the right insurance when you buy from the man who displays this Big "I" Seal. To display it, we have had to meet professional standards designed to protect you.

Many In Havana Believed US-Cuba Break Inevitable

HAVANA (AP)—The break in diplomatic relations between the United States and Fidel Castro's Cuba was long in coming but many here for a long time believed it was inevitable.

Observers said it appeared the bearded revolutionary had no intention of getting along with Washington almost from the time he came out of the hills of eastern Cuba to take power two years ago.

Why Castro took this aggressive stand is disputed here. But a majority of foreign diplomats in Havana agree that the Castro regime never opened the way for normal diplomatic relations with the United States.

After he flew to the United States early in 1959, Castro is said to have expressed resentment to intimates over his failure to meet either President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. He expected Eisenhower and Herter to make overtures to him, telling his associates he could not seek such meetings himself and "still face my people."

Nearly a year after this visit, two American reporters were booted out of Cuba after reporting Castro had expressed willingness to meet Eisenhower or Herter in the interests of peace.

Castro said he could not have made this overture because it would have been misunderstood as a sign of weakness on his part. Veteran reporters interpreted this as a sign Castro wanted relations with the United States only on his own terms—if at all.

Castro's seizure of the billion-dollar American investment in Cuba was pushed vigorously, accompanied by violent propaganda blasts at American "monopolists" and "economic imperialism." Attempts by the U.S. government to discuss compensation were brushed aside or ignored.

U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal—a veteran career diplomat with a reputation for getting along with Latin American leaders—found himself completely stymied.

It took Bonsal months to arrange a meeting with Castro in an effort to smooth relations—and then nothing came of it.

When anti-Castro activity broke

Minor Derailment Delays Fast Train

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Departure of a crack passenger train for Kansas City was delayed several hours Tuesday night by a minor derailment.

Lead wheels of a diesel locomotive pulling the Portland Rose into Manhattan for a stop derailed just west of the station. Passengers remained aboard. There were no injuries.

A derrick was summoned from Kansas City, 119 miles east, to put the diesel back on the tracks.

The Big Job for Congress

The 87th Congress will be asked in the two years ahead to perform many specific tasks, some urgent and some routine. It could fill another role of perhaps immeasurable consequence to the country.

It could help to establish a new national mood.

Basically that burden falls upon the president-elect, John F. Kennedy. It was he who, during the long campaign, said he would demand new sacrifices from the American people. It was he, too who often called for a return to the "pursuit of excellence."

If we are indeed to put ourselves on a new, high road of achievement, the new president must lead the way. In his office he has prestige and power to influence the citizenry as no other single man can do.

But the job should not be his alone. An alert, forward-looking Congress can do much to fortify its presidential leadership in such a task.

In a recent statement, the National Committee for an Effective Congress put the challenge sharply:

"Certainly the judgement of history when applied to Mr. Kennedy and to the 87th Congress will be based on how far they advance beyond the political routine of good housekeeping and start to cultivate the strains of quality by which the society can be rescued from mediocrity.

"Statesmanship will be tested by how far the frontier of excellence is penetrated."

In postwar America there has been too little interest in achievement, far too great a tendency to seek maximum return for minimum effort.

Often it has been argued that Americans today are afflicted with a lack of caring, that they are unconcerned with the fate and fortune of others, both at home and abroad.

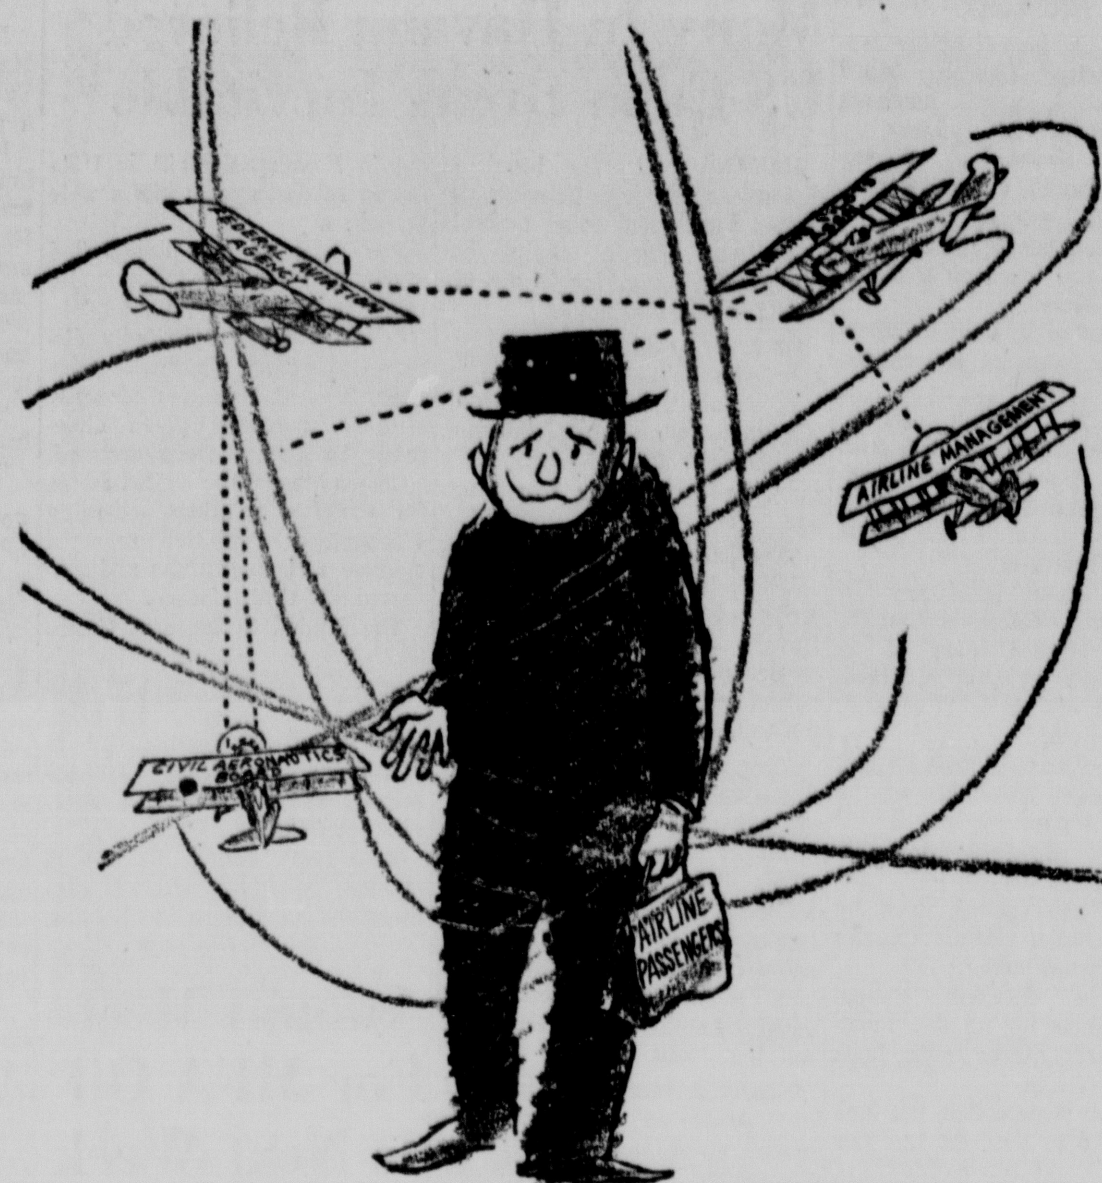

Some would make an even stiffer case, however, with the contention that all too many do not really care enough about themselves. They measure achievement by the acquisition of material comforts, not by the pursuit and accomplishments of excellence.

The uniqueness of the human being, particularly the free human being, is his capacity to develop high physical and mental skills. If he does not use this capacity he is wasting himself.

We have had in this country too much of this kind of waste.

The task of the new president and a supporting Congress is now to stir Americans to use themselves to the fullest, to end their self-defeating contentment with mediocrity, and put them back on the hard but rewarding path of accomplishment.

Big Problem for Kennedy Is Course of Foreign Aid

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — What to do about the foreign aid program is one of the Kennedy administration's biggest problems.

There's ample dissatisfaction with the way foreign aid is being run now. A few people like Sen. Barry Goldwater would abolish it altogether. That's the extreme, minority view.

But even supporters of foreign aid who consider its abolition not only impossible but also crazy are not satisfied with the results now being obtained.

This dissatisfaction is not based solely on scattered disclosures of inefficiency and waste.

It is based primarily on realization that needs of countries eligible to receive the aid are changing. So the kinds and methods of giving aid must be changed to meet new conditions.

In the 15 years that the U.S. has been in foreign aid business—fiscal 1946 through fiscal 1961, ending next June 30 — about 90 billion dollars' worth of aid will have been furnished. It has averaged four billion dollars a year in economic assistance and two billion dollars a year in military assistance.

Foreign aid enthusiasts — at the opposite end of the scale from Goldwater — think this isn't enough. They want two or three billion dollars a year more. The need is there.

But explanations of who is to furnish this money are not forthcoming. And the size of the program does not now receive as much attention as does its character and quality.

Economic development of the backward countries is no longer considered enough. There must be development of free political institutions along with it, under new concepts. This means not just anti-Communism but constructive independence and democracy — the democracy of 1776 restated in terms of 1976.

There is a further new emphasis called for on education, housing, land reform and self-sufficient agriculture. These are not the big projects of river valley dams and power, steel mills and high industrialization new countries want for prestige. They are the more fundamental improvements that reach down to the common people and improve their standards of living.

Those were some of the points brought out in the recent Washington Conference on International Economic and Social Development. It was the annual meeting of representatives from about 100 nongovernmental church, education, labor and farm groups and private foundations interested in foreign assistance.

There was some expression of opinion that the government ought to get out of direct foreign aid and turn it over to private business, religious and welfare organizations — to run on government subsidies, of course. The thought was that, "The business of the State Department should be to run foreign policy — not build fertilizer plants."

Wherever reorganization of foreign aid is mentioned, bureaucrats pop up with diagrams of how it should be done. For instance — there should be more multilateral assistance given through the U. N. instead of bilateral, country-to-country aid. But this may not be practical, yet.

It is largely gobbledygook, anyway. Foreign aid has already been shuffled and reshuffled from MSA to FOA to ICA and from Point Four to TCA. All this alphabet mixing just mixes up the recipients of foreign aid and destroys staff morale to boot.

The organization they have is good enough. What it is said to need most is some dedication and enthusiasm such as it had in Marshall Plan days. Today the stick-wielding critics of American foreign aid are beating a worn-out, if not dead horse.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Nixon Got Secret Support of Hoffa

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — Private correspondence has been uncovered by this column revealing that Vice President Nixon intervened with his friend Attorney General Bill Rogers not to indict Teamsters' Chief Jimmy Hoffa in the Florida land scandal. Rogers held up the indictment until after the election, then acted against the wishes of the Vice President, who had become politically indebted to Hoffa.

As early as last August an Orlando, Fla., grand jury was ready to indict Hoffa for allegedly misusing union funds to promote a real estate development. But the indictment was not brought. Rogers sat on it while Hoffa was helping the Republicans in the Presidential campaign.

Hoffa's political support was arranged by a Nixon emissary who secretly huddled with him in a Miami hotel room more than a year ago. The controversial Hoffa was careful not to endorse Nixon openly, but passed word to his henchmen across the country to campaign for Nixon. The Teamsters were instrumental, for instance, in switching Ohio, considered safe for Kennedy, into the Nixon column.

But once the election was over, Rogers went ahead with the Hoffa indictment anyway. Nixon was not so quick to forget his political obligation, and tried to talk Rogers out of it. However, the Attorney General not only ignored Nixon but gave the indictment extra significance by announcing it himself from Washington.

Ex-California Congressman Oakley Hunter, the secret intermediary between Nixon and Hoffa, promptly apologized to Hoffa in a "Dear Jim" letter dated December 8.

Apologetic Letter
"I was sorry to hear of the indictment against you in the Orlando matter," Hunter wrote. "I know for a fact that your side of the case was put before the Vice President and that he discussed the case with the Attorney General, Bill Rogers."

"I do not know what was said by the Vice President to Rogers. I do know, however, that the Vice President has been sympathetic toward you and has felt that you were being subjected to undue harassment by certain parties. He has consistently refrained from criticizing you or jumping on the bandwagon with those who have felt that kicking you around was a popular and politically expedient thing to do."

"It would be my surmise that Bill Rogers acted as he did for reasons of his own," Hunter added. "Mr. Nixon having lost the election, I doubt that he has since been in a position to exercise any decisive degree of influence. As Vice President he has no authority to order the Attorney General to do anything."

Naturally Hoffa was furious over what he considered a political double-cross and wanted ed Nixon to take a public stand against the indictment.

This brought another letter from Hunter, dated December 20, to a Hoffa confidant.

"Regarding the 'big-double-cross' as you call it, I don't think it would do your friend (Hoffa) any good to make the Vice President a party to the matter," wrote the Ex-Congressman from California. "I am satisfied that he, as well as Bob Finch (Nixon's campaign manager), presented the facts to Bill Rogers and that the latter acted as he did in what he believed to be his own self-interest."

"For the Vice President to have taken exception to his action publicly would have only caused Rogers to defend his position, also publicly. The Vice President felt that that would only put your friend further on the spot."

More about the interesting alliance between the Vice President and Jimmy Hoffa will follow in an early column.

U. S. Ducks Colonialism

At the recent United Nations assembly, Mrs. Zelma Watson George, the American Negro delegate from Cleveland, was so upset over instructions from Washington to abstain from voting against African colonialism that she tried to telephone President Eisenhower.

Because Mrs. George was on the verge of bolting the American delegation, Ambassador Jerry Wadsworth telephoned Tom Stephens, appointed secretary for the President, and asked whether the President would take Mrs. George's call. The answer was inconclusive. Mrs. George then telephoned Stephens herself, asked if she could speak with President Eisenhower.

"What do you wish to talk to him about?" asked Stephens, as if he didn't know.

Mrs. George explained, "The President is very busy getting ready to entertain the Supreme Court," Stephens replied, "but I'll go and talk to him."

He came back to report: "The President has given his orders as to how the American delegation is to vote and he wants the orders carried out."

As a result, the American delegation abstained from voting on a resolution regarding an issue over which the 13 American Colonies went to war against England — colonialism. The resolution won, 89 to 0. As it won, Mrs. George stood up, tears in her eyes, and applauded vigorously. Sen. Wayne Morse, sitting beside her, also applauded.

Noting the applause, the Rumanian Ambassador leaned over, whispered in Morse's ear: "I see the American delegation has a couple of rebels."

"Yes," replied Morse, "we're free to rebel. In your country we would be shot."

The Rumanian Ambassador laughed and walked away.

Note — Eisenhower had received an urgent message from Prime Minister MacMillan in London, asking that the American delegation not desert the British regarding "colonialism." Though the USA once won its independence from the British Crown over this issue, Ike went along with MacMillan. The negative American position was considered a great victory for Russia, which originally proposed the resolution. It hurt the United States all over Africa and Asia.

The World Today

Less Razzle-Dazzle In the Senate

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There'll be less razzle-dazzle in the Senate which has just substituted a plain John for a glamor boy. But the question puzzling Washington is whether the glamor boy will still be boss.

The Senate Democrats Tuesday picked Mike Mansfield, 57, of Montana, thin of face and plainly dressed, as their leader to succeed the spectacular Lyndon Johnson, 52, who on Jan. 20 becomes vice president.

Mansfield had been Johnson's chief assistant and gets his full blessing. He will be responsible for steering President-elect John F. Kennedy's programs through the Senate. Johnson, as vice president, will preside over Senate sessions. Mansfield said he will invite Johnson at times to preside over party caucuses and policy committee meetings.

Usually a vice president — at least so far as his work in the Senate goes — is a shadowy figure who stays in the background. The floor leader, in this case, Mansfield, is the boss.

It remains to be seen whether Johnson, for whom Kennedy will find plenty of outside work, will remain subdued in the vice president's chair or try to pull the strings to make Mansfield dance. Mansfield, one-time Marine, one-time college professor of history and political science, is the kind of man you might overlook in a crowd.

The bustling Johnson, who is always so well-groomed he seems to shine, sometimes seemed to run the Senate by sleight-of-hand.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Satorius are moving from Clinton to Sedalia to make their home. Mr. Satorius is cashier for the Missouri Egg and Poultry Company operated by Armour and Co., 1936.

W. Jackson Letts, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Letts, 1217 West Fourth street, division manager of the group insurance department of Prudential Life Insurance Co., at Atlanta, Ga., has been promoted to regional manager with headquarters in Philadelphia.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Bosserman and daughter, Miss Ruth, of El Paso, Texas, are guests of Dr. and Mrs. D. P. Dyer, of 410 Dal-Whi-Mo Court.

Messrs Tom Cloney and Edgar Ford entertained a party of young society folks at a dance on the stage of the New Lona Theatre from midnight Tuesday night to 3 o'clock Wednesday morning. Twenty couples were included in the party, among whom were Phillip Cotton, of Columbia, and Jean McConnell, of Houstonia. Mr. and Mrs. Clay Goodloe, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan of St. Louis, Miss Nannie Estill, Miss Jennie Boyd and Dr. A. J. Campbell chaperoned the party. Music was furnished by the Admiral Sims Sextette, a vaudeville number at the New Lona.

Johnson, considered by many the ablest Senate leader of the century, did favors for senators and called on them to pay back in votes when he needed them.

Or he'd get things done by working out agreements behind the scenes before voting time.

But the real reason for Johnson's success — there are some who question how successful he was in getting through any really substantial legislation — lay in this: He was a middle-roader and a compromiser.

This fitted in nicely with the prevailing mood of the other 99 senators who range from liberal to reactionary but are mostly middle-road conservatives who, by experience, learned they can't have everything their way and accept compromise.

Mansfield is a middle-roader, too. Otherwise, it's doubtful he'd be Johnson's man for the job. But he has one advantage over Johnson starting out.

Johnson was leader in a Senate where Democrats were in a majority but had to deal with a Republican president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, who always held the threat of veto.

Mansfield leads a Senate where the Democrats still are a majority but will have a Democratic president not only pushing for Democratic programs but anxious to sign them into law.

Mansfield isn't a patsy and may well stiff-arm Johnson if the latter tries to climb into his pasture. And, even though he's Democratic leader, Mansfield could still balk at some Kennedy programs.

Ruth Millett Says

Some Mothers-in-law Should Read This Column

"Why is it so hard for a mother-in-law to mentally put herself in her daughter-in-law's shoes, or even to remember what her own life was like when she had small children and there always seemed to be a mountain of work ahead of her?" asks one of my readers.

"My mother-in-law wouldn't think of saying, 'Honey you look worn out. Why don't you get Bob to take you out to dinner tonight? I'll fix supper for the kids and look after them.'"

"Yet there must have been times in her own young married life when she felt as beat as I sometimes do, and when she was as desperate as I sometimes am to get away from it all for a carefree evening."

"Another thing she would never think of doing is to give me the morale-building boost of a nice compliment, especially one paid to me in my husband's presence. Doesn't she realize how much such a compliment would mean, coming from my husband's mother?"

"Instead, she brags about how efficiently she runs her own home — when she hasn't a soul to do for but herself.

"Please don't think I dislike my mother-in-law. I don't dislike her and I wish she would make it easier for me to learn to love her. I am sure we could be really good friends if she could only understand enough to offer me a little help and encouragement, instead of never offering a word of praise or a helping hand."

"Maybe she has read too many articles about letting your children lead their own lives. Maybe she just doesn't want to be bothered. I don't know."

"I do know I'd give anything for a little help and encouragement now and then; the kind each generation should offer the one that follows, and the kind I intend to give my own daughters and daughters-in-law."

I'm printing this letter in the hope that it will make mothers-in-law who are overdoing the "hands off our children's lives" policy see the situation from an overworked young mother's point of view.

The Mature Parent

Face Fact: Today's World Robs Children of Our Time

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
I use to believe that it was fine for us to deprive our children of our home presence for most of their waking life so long as we made those prebedtime 60 minutes with them count. Not any more.

Now I think that the experts who sing us this lullaby are just trying to "adjust" us to this difficult place the world has become instead of encouraging us to know that there are things about it which are dehumanizing and destructive.

As usual, the "adjustment" specialists ask too much of people. The suburban father whose eight-hour day at the office is extended by three hours of commuting is not apt to arrive home in any condition to give vital "quality" to those 60 prebedtime minutes with Johnny and Linda.

He gets home tired, frazzled, wanting not to give more time to people but keep some finally for himself.

The working mother who has spent her day navigating everything from her executive's pressures to her buses' crowded aisles cannot be expected to offer her children anything but her still preoccupied, still exhausted half-presence.

So, let's stop pretending that children are not deprived by the time and energies we sell to employers. Let's face the fact that they are — and find our poise not in a denial of the truth but in a more honest and regretful toleration of it.

Think It Through

SECRETARY FOR AFRICAN AFFAIRS—If G. Mennen Williams shovels money into the Continent of Africa the way he did in Michigan, his appointment as Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs will be the costliest of record.

Mr. Kennedy says Mr. Williams' new job will be "second to none." True enough, for Africa is a continent, not a state. And its "affairs" are countless.

Have just figured out that Africa is as large as 197 Michigans, and more than three times the size of the U.S.A.

Mr. Williams may do all right, as he will have the U. S. Treasury behind him, which he didn't have as Governor of Michigan. It is reported that he leaves with the best wishes of countless Michigan citizens! And Africa's 230,000,000 people will welcome him.

Let's hope, however, that the Africans don't set their sights too high all at once. For I note that aid to the Congo will cost $66,625,000 this year, and the Congolese are only 16 per cent of all the Africans. Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld gave us the bad news recently that the U. N. Treasury is "virtually empty," same as Michigan's!

In fact, U. N. members are back in their dues to the U. N. in a total of $3,215,745. But then there's good old Uncle Sam! What's thirty-seven millions to Uncle? If it wasn't that we're losing gold so fast, Uncle would pick up the check without batting an eye.

SACRAMENTO BEE: Still Is a Good Yarn.—The Cumberland Advocate in Wisconsin says this actually happened.

A woman bought a grandfather clock at an auction. She asked her husband, dressed in formal dinner attire for a special function, to pick it up en route.

Carrying the unwieldy clock to his car he collided with another man, three sheets in the wind and tacking his course homeward.

The man in the full dress suit demanded: Why in blazes don't you watch where you are going?

He of the alcoholic breath dazedly looked at the other sprawled on the sidewalk in formal dinner attire, the clock lying across him, and snapped:

Why don't you wear a wrist watch like everybody else?

If it happened it is a wonderful story.

If it did not happen—it still is a wonderful story.

Shoeshine Innovations Up Polish Sales Tremendously

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The once-lowlily shoeshine business is rising into money these days.

Increasing polish sales could be traced to more elbow grease at home as families pare budgets in uncertain times. But much could be due to hard competition causing manufacturers to scramble for the home market with new ideas in polishes and easier applications.

Sales volume has risen from $30 million a year at the end of World War II to more than $85 million a year now.

New ideas aimed at beefing up this market include spray-on or aerosol jobs, flow-on polishes using the principle of the fountain pen, and pastes without the usual odor associated with freshly shined shoes.

Also there are electric polishing machines for home or public places to renew the glow and make people appearance-conscious. In recent years new ingredients or combinations have been aimed at increasing the shine, treating the leather, restoring color and gloss to worn and scuffed shoes, lengthening the duration of the shine.

The first modern polishes were of the solvent type, with beeswax and paraffin as the main solids, diluted with turpentine.

World War II saw U.S. servicemen discovering what an Australian-born paste did in giving a high glow and restored color to scuffed shoes.

Manufacturers say sales today divide into three main areas with pastes first, followed closely by dye-type liquids and by creams and trailed by whites. There are also suede cleaners, leather renewers, oils and greases, impregnated cloths, shoemaker's wax and saddle soap cleaners.

S. C. Johnson & Son, Racine, Wis., maker of wax, has just entered the field with three liquid polishes and one compact paste kit. The liquids come in plastic squeeze bottles which work like a fountain pen when turned upside down.

One of the established leaders in the field, the Esquire division of Knomark, Inc., reports its sales jumped 22 per cent in the last three months after introduction of its odorless paste polish. Some of the sales, it says, may be due to women who have been using it to stain unfinished furniture.

Like the American division of E. Australian-born Kiwi, Esquire has made its major growth here since World War II with an emphasis on high gloss. Esquire now gets 44 per cent of its sales in food stores, where it says women make 75 per cent of the shoe polish purchases.

Among other makers are Griffin, Shinola, 2-in-1, Bixby's jet oil, Dress Parade, and Whittemore Brothers.

This being an age of research into who does what, a survey of home habits was inevitable.

One manufacturer says it found that in the strongholds of togetherness the polishing chore is divided fairly equally, but with children doing a bit more sprucing up than do fathers, and mothers taking on about one-fourth of the total job.

Men are said to prefer paste polish while women are the best market for liquid polishes. Older people are reported on the lookout for products and techniques that call for the least bending.

Heavy Role For Johnson In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prospect he will preside over Senate Democratic policy discussions appeared today to pave the way for Lyndon Baines Johnson to play a powerful political role in the new Congress.

Johnson, who resigned as a Texas senator Tuesday, passed along his majority leadership to Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana. Johnson will become vice president Jan. 20.

Elected to the leadership post, Mansfield promptly startled the Democratic senators by announcing he will invite Johnson at times to preside over both Democratic caucuses and policy committee meetings.

Vice presidents, members of the executive branch, ordinarily don't sit in on such sessions: Vice President Richard M. Nixon rarely attended Senate Republican policy committee meetings and then only on special invitation. He never presided.

An hour and a half of uproar in the closed door Democratic caucus ended in a 46-17 vote in support of Mansfield's proposal. But it left the action open to a variety of interpretations.

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., said "the decision means that Sen. Johnson will continue as majority leader of the Senate."

Johnson did not comment publicly on the conference action. He has told friends he wants to participate as fully as possible in Democratic matters but has no intention of infringing on Mansfield's authority as majority leader.

Johnson regards the invitation to preside over meetings as a gracious gesture to an incoming vice president of the same party. Johnson told his colleagues at the caucus session that he didn't want to go on as majority leader until Jan. 20, as he could have. He said Mansfield will confront "a totally new set of problems" and urged cooperation with the new leader.

Mansfield said the action was an honor for Johnson and recognition of past services. He noted Johnson won't have a vote in the meetings.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Mansfield's new assistant leader, said there was precedent for the action. He said the late Vice President Alben Barkley had presided over similar sessions. Other senators said Barkley sat in on some meetings but never took the gavel.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who voted against the proposal, said he thinks Johnson's influence on party policy will be the same, whether he presides or doesn't.

"But to preside gives the appearance of power," he said, "and after all, the appearance of power is about all we have left in the senate."

See Warmer Trend For Cold Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Freezing weather prevailed in the major part of the country today but a warming trend was indicated over most of the chilled areas.

Below zero temperatures were reported in only a few spots outside the mountain areas as the warmer air spread into the Rocky Mountain region and headed eastward.

The mercury dropped to only 11 above in International Falls, Minn., after a couple of mornings of 30 below readings. At Fraser, in the Colorado Rockies, the low was -19 but in Madison, Wis., the mercury climbed from -4 to 5 above during the early morning. Some areas in Montana reported above freezing marks.

The below freezing belt covered all sections except the extreme southern part of the country, along the Pacific and along the Atlantic Coast as far north as Virginia.

Light snow and snow flurries fell during the night and morning in the Great Lakes region, eastern parts of the Ohio Valley and the northern Appalachians. Snow squalls hit western and central New York, with heavy falls in some areas. Six inches was reported in Hamburg, a village south of Buffalo, which reported three inches. A heavy blanket covered a 30-mile stretch from Depew, near Buffalo, to Leroy, cutting the speed on the New York Thruway from the normal 60 to 35 m.p.h.

Sitter Off Perch

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — John Gregory, 28, a flag pole-sitter who weighs nearly 500 pounds, was lifted off his lofty perch at a shopping center with a crane after he became ill Friday.

Gregory, of Janesville, Wis., mounted the 45-foot high platform 83 days ago in an effort to break his old record of 211 days, set in 1958 at Fort Smith, Ark. He had hoped to stay aloft 222 days.

Police Press Federal Charge Against Hoodlum

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Kenneth G. Mueller, former associate of East St. Louis racket boss Frank (Buster) Wortman, has been charged in a federal warrant with attempting to break into a vault of a bank.

Mueller, 28 - year-old often-arrested St. Louis hoodlum, was captured by two policemen who saw him running from a parking lot adjacent to the Union National Bank in downtown East St. Louis Monday night.

He was charged with unlawfully entering a bank with intent to commit larceny in a warrant issued by U.S. Commissioner Elvira Felner and held in city jail in lieu of $15,000 bond.

Mueller has declined to make a statement.

Police Sgt. Al Witt and Patrolman Edward C. Baker caught him after a chase of several blocks. They said he offered them a $20 bribe to let him go and that a key he dropped fit the door of the bank.

The officers said he also dropped a .38 caliber revolver as he fled.

Police believe Mueller had an accomplice.

The bank is only a block and a half from the police station.

Mueller was once a bouncer in a club operated by Wortman, which authorities closed several years ago.

State's Future Bright

Blair Warns Legislators Of Growing Revenue Needs

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. James T. Blair held out bright hopes for Missouri's future today but warned the new legislature it must find more revenue to meet the growing needs.

Blair's report of his stewardship as governor and his recommendations for the future came in a special message prepared for the last in a four-year series of appearances before the assembly. Next Monday he will hand the reins of office to Gov.-elect John M. Dalton.

Dalton will then have his opportunity to make his own suggestions about improving Missouri's government.

The retiring governor outlined several dozen recommendations and summed:

Police Press Manhunt For Negro Killer

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police today pressed a manhunt for a Negro who slashed to death a pretty young modeling student in her bedroom.

Donna Trussell, a cousin of 1960 Miss America Lynda Lee Mead, was slain just a few hours before she was to return to New York, where she was trying to launch an acting career. It was her 18th birthday.

Another cousin stumbled on the slaying Tuesday and fled in terror. Police later found Miss Trussell's nude body in her bedroom.

Her father said it "looked like a slaughterhouse."

The coroner's office said the girl died from multiple stab wounds of the chest, throat and abdomen. Capt. Myron Weysham, homicide division chief, said the killer probably was scratched on the face or neck and cut on the right thumb.

Police questioned three Negroes picked up near the scene.

Lynn Bulliard, 25, cousin of Miss Trussell, said she dropped by to wish her a happy birthday and saw her struggling with a Negro. She said she was no more than 10 feet from the death struggle. A TV set was knocked down and a heater pulled from the wall.

"Part of her clothes were off and she was lying on the floor," Miss Bulliard said. "I didn't know what to do. I don't think he even saw me there was so much noise. I ran down the stairs and out to Allen."

Allen Rothbart of New York had accompanied Miss Bulliard and waited outside. He said he saw the assailant flee on a bicycle, carrying a bundle of clothing under his arm.

"We have every reason to regard Missouri's future prospects with optimism, providing we are prepared to meet the new challenges that are inevitable in a changing society."

He said the state is in sound financial condition but more money must be found.

"Total financing of the school foundation program," he said, "along with pressing needs in other areas of government service, will require revenues beyond those we can expect from present sources. I recommend an increase in the cigarette and liquor taxes as the most reasonable means of meeting these requirements."

To meet the cost of an expanded highway system Blair recommended an increase in the three-cent gasoline tax but did not suggest any specific amount.

The same recommended increases were ignored by the 1959 legislature.

The retiring governor reviewed some of the achievements of his administration, including establishment of a professional budget staff, improved tax collection and expanded highway, welfare and school programs.

Thanks to the accrual of interest, he reported $75,801,451 has been allotted from the state's 75 million dollar building bond issue and there is still about 2 1/2 million left. Most of the institutional buildings are either completed or well under way.

"But bond issue financing is an expensive way to do business," Blair commented in recommending the legislature develop a system of financing the state's building needs out of current revenue.

For example, he said, immediate and continuing appropriations are needed at the state colleges and universities to take care of rapidly expanding enrollments.

All the schools need more money, he said in endorsing the recommendations of special study groups for a system of state supported junior colleges, state aid for scholarships and student loans, putting his Higher Education Commission on a permanent basis and requiring state approval of private schools to prevent the growth of "diploma mills."

The retiring governor also endorsed the 10-year program his state Mental Health Commission has developed.

He said the staffs at the mental hospitals need to be increased and salaries should be raised. A building program must be developed and children's units should be established at the St. Louis, St. Joseph and Fulton hospitals.

Blair said the legislature should move into a new program of community mental health service, set up training facilities for doctors, nurses, therapists and other mental health workers and provide immediately for increases in bed capacities at the St. Louis and Higginsville units.

In the field of government reorganization Blair resubmitted many suggestions he has made previously without success.

He suggested an administrative management unit and a records management section in the budget office would improve efficiency and save money. So would the use of electronic payroll equipment, he said.

Some of the more than 100 separate state funds should be consolidated, Blair said, as part of a move to give the legislature broader control over state money. At the same time he recommended no more earmarking of special funds.

Noting it has worked well in private industry, Blair suggested the legislature set up an incentive system for rewarding state employees for ideas to improve governmental operations.

Without spelling out the details, the outgoing governor said salaries should be increased for judges and other state officials.

Blair also renewed his recommendations for:

Heyman Drives Blue Devils To Solid National Rating

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Art Heyman, one New Yorker who Frank McGuire couldn't nail, continues to drive Duke's Blue Devils to a solid national rating while establishing himself as one of the top sophomores of the new college basketball season.

A hero both on and off the court, the 19-year-old, 6-foot-5, 205-pound crew cut from Rockville, Centre, N.Y., fired 28 points and boosted his season's average to 23.4 Tuesday night as eighth-rated Duke whipped Navy 78-63 for its 10th victory in 11 games.

Seven of those 28 were game-breakers, reeled off in succession in the closing minutes by Heyman, who shunned bids from McGuire's North Carolina Tar Heels and (by family count) 48 other major schools to enroll at Duke after a whirlwind career at Long Island's Oceanside High School.

The 28 points represented a record for the new Greensboro, N.C., Coliseum and earned Heyman an award as the game's outstanding player.

Coincidentally, one of Heyman's Rockville Center neighbors—sophomore John Pungert of North Carolina State—played a key role in Tuesday night's college activity that also saw Vanderbilt stretch its two-season win streak to 11, Virginia Tech establish itself as the team to beat in the West Virginia-dominated Southern Conference, and touted Georgia Tech right itself just in time for the start of the Southeastern Conference season.

Pungert, who broke into North Carolina State's starting lineup last week, scored 25 points—19 in the first half—as the Wolfpack routed Virginia 94-71 in an Atlantic Coast Conference test. Vanderbilt, with an 80-57 romp over Sewanee, and 6-foot-6 Chris Smith fired 19 points and grabbed 26 rebounds as VPI made it 3-0 in Southern Conference doings, 73-63 over The Citadel. The Citadel earlier whipped West Virginia, which has monopolized the conference championships for years. In another Southern conference game, Jerry Smith's 24 points led Furman (8-2) over William and Mary 78-56.

Georgia Tech, runner-up to Auburn for the SEC title last year with most of its top team intact, squared its record at 5-5 with an 85-65 whipping of South Carolina behind a 27-point burst by Roger Kaiser.

In opening firing in the Southwest Conference race, Texas A&M got 29 points and 13 rebounds from Carroll Broussard in an 82-69 triumph over TCU, and Del Ray Mounts triggered Texas Tech from a 13-point deficit to a 70-68 upset of SMU, first Tech victory over the Mustangs in 13 years. Mounts had 21 points, 12 in the second half rally.

Temple (10-1) made it eight in a row, 101-69 over Scranton, behind Bruce Drysdale's 31 points, and Fred Moses had 31 points and Larry Jones 28 as Oklahoma City (7-4) thumped West Texas State 89-74.

Frank Burgess of Gonzaga, the Nation's No. 1 scorer with a 32-point average, managed only 17 in a 72-63 victory over Whitworth, and Houston, with Ted Luckenbill scoring 23, downed Lamar Tech 100-73.

Santa Clara (9-4) thrashed College of the Pacific 71-38 in a West Coast Athletic Conference game, and Stanford handed Fordham (3-6) its fourth straight loss on a West Coast jaunt, 59-44.

Sports editor Paul Zimmerman of the Times wrote: "This department was castigated by Gophers' grads for our temerity in suggesting the AAUW (Athletic Association of Western Universities) could do better in inviting the (Iowa) Hawkeyes — If they must turn to the Big Ten.

"After what happened in the Rose Bowl, it hardly can be denied that Iowa could have made a better game of it. For example, it was not until the final quarter that the Minnesotans completed a pass. That is, to their own man.

"All things considered, much-maligned Western football came out of the bowl game smelling like a Rose. Washington's impressive win wasn't the only thing. Duke's victory in the Cotton Bowl, after (suffering) a sound thrashing by UCLA, 27 to 6, didn't hurt matters."

Frick Into Conference Of Officials

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick today went into a top-level conference with President Warren Giles of the National League and President Joe Cronin of the American League in an effort to settle the big remaining expansion problems.

In all the frantic maneuvering by the majors' in expanding to 10 teams each, a resolution granting immediate recognition to the two new National League teams — New York and Houston — never was passed.

Until they are taken into the official family, even though they aren't scheduled to start operation until 1962, the two clubs cannot organize a farm system, make minor league working agreements or sign free agents.

Frick said he hopes Giles and Cronin will put the matter to an immediate mail vote.

No arguments are expected. The American League asked more time to study the resolution on Dec. 7. At that time, the two leagues still were bickering over the expansion problem. Now that the American League has moved into Los Angeles, all is smooth. "If Cronin and Giles can't put it to a vote right away," said Frick, "I'll simply have to call a joint meeting next month."

Bowl Coaches Are Thinking Of Passing

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Both Senior Bowl coaches apparently are thinking in terms of strong passing attacks as they prepare for the all-star football game here Saturday.

Indications are the starting quarterback roles have been won by Norman Snead of Wake Forest and Dick Norman of Stanford, two of the leading passers in the nation this season.

The South squad's Snead ranked second nationally, completing 123 of 259 attempts for 1,676 yards. The Washington Redskins picked him in the first round of the recent pro draft and promptly signed him to a contract.

Norman, directing the first backfield unit in the North drills, connected on 95 of 201 passes during the season to increase his three-year totals to 323 completions in 597 attempts for 3,737 yards and 18 touchdowns.

Alternating with Snead were Howard Dyer of VMI and Phil Nugent of Tulane. Norman will share the North quarterbacking with Bob Hivner, a star in Washington's Rose Bowl victory over Minnesota Monday.

St. Benedict's of Atchison dropped a close 56-55 non-conference to William Jewell at Liberty, Mo.

Don Listar scored 20 points for the Ravens but had to take a back seat to big Wayne Kuhlman, who had 25 for Jewell.

Clause at Stake

Molinas Case Coming Up In Federal Court Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The unique case of Jack Molinas vs. the National Basketball Association came up in federal court today with the NBA's reserve clause at stake.

The case is a $3,000,000 antitrust action brought by Molinas against the NBA.

It was six years ago that Molinas, then 21, was barred from the NBA for betting on his own team, the Fort Wayne (now Detroit) Pistons.

"I'm ready for the trial," said Molinas. "I think I have a very good chance of winning."

Molinas, who played for Columbia University, pleaded in his defense that he bet only on his team to win. He admitted he won about $400 and that he paid taxes on the winnings.

Molinas, now a lawyer, wants the NBA ban lifted and is asking $3,000,000 in damages. He has charged NBA President Maurice Podoloff and the eight teams in the league with acting in restraint of trade, a violation of the antitrust law.

Molinas claims that because of the reserve clause, he is prohibited from dealing with any other team than the Pistons, and that he is being boycotted and blacklisted in the NBA.

Smithton brought its season record to the .500 mark Tuesday night as it downed Prairie Home for its second loss of the season, 63-50.

The teams ended the first quarter deadlocked at 13 each, but Smithton picked up a ten point lead by halftime. The third quarter was another deadlock with each team scoring 10 points, but in the final stanza, Smithton added three more points to its lead.

It was a well-balanced attack, led by Murphy with 18 points, that spelled victory for Smithton. Sells and Stegner tied for Prairie Home scoring honors at 14 apiece.

In the evening's "B" game, Smithton also won out, 33-27. J. Stegner of Prairie Home was top scorer with 13 points. Lloyd led Smithton with 12.

Sacred Heart Cage Squads Achieve One Win, Lose Two

The Sacred Heart basketball squads, three in number, played Marshall Mercy at Marshall Tuesday night, and came out of it with two losses and only one win. The victory was accomplished by the "B" team, while the varsity squad lost 73-44 and the grade school team dropped its tilt 46-23.

The varsity game, a conference contest, started off with Sacred Heart 14 points behind Mercy. Going into the fourth quarter, the Gremlins were still 14 points to the rear. The game ended with Sacred Heart doing little more than allowing Mercy to pile up 21 points.

The leading Gremlin scorers in the varsity game were Jim Friedebach and Jerry Barr with 12 points each.

In the "B" game, Sacred Heart drove to a 7-point lead by halftime and built on it to win. High for the junior Gremlins was Keochoner with 11 points, while Koch scored seven to lead the younger Mercy team.

And finally, in the grade school game, Gerke dropped in six points to lead his team in the scoring department, but Henigler outshone his effort with a 12-point score for the winners. The game ended 46-23 in favor of Mercy.

Sugar Ray Is Back At Old Stand

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who always allots part of his pre-fight training to sparring with promoters on money matters, is back at the old stand.

Sugar Ray said today he is willing to meet Gene Fullmer for the fourth time for the National Boxing Association version of the world middleweight championship but that he wants a "reasonable" share of the television profits.

The target date for the fight is Feb. 25 in Las Vegas. Robinson and the promoters, as might be expected, differ on what constitutes a reasonable share of the loot.

"I agree that Fullmer should get the larger share of the gate," said Robinson. "He's the champion and deserves that."

"But television is another matter. I think the television profits should be divided evenly between the fighters and the promoters. Unless everyone agrees to that, I'm not interested."

Norman Rothschild, who along with Jack Doyle and Mel Greb, is trying to promote the bout said, "His demands are high."

Robinson and Rothschild were scheduled to meet here today in an effort to settle the financial arrangements. The promoters reportedly have a $150,000 television guarantee.

The last Fullmer-Robinson fight ended in a draw in Los Angeles. Robinson collected $20,000 of the TV money, plus 20 per cent of the net gate receipts. This time, it is said, he had upped his price to $50,000 TV money and more than 25 per cent of the gate.

Robinson also claims he has an offer from Italian promoter Felice Zallula to make a tour of Europe and that he has been approached on the possibility of meeting the winner of the Terry Downs-Paul Penner fight in Boston on Jan. 14. That's for the New York-Massachusetts version of the 160-pound title.

For Eldon, it was a balanced attack that made the difference against Boonville offensive hbtat saw eight players enter the scoring column, but, unfortunately not scoring enough apiece to spell victory.

TV Growing Up Too Fast For Britches

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television grew up so fast it jumped in a little over a decade from infancy to giant size. In the process it almost overnight grew too big for its britches or, perhaps more accurately, its swaddling clothes.

Over the years, particularly in New York, the three networks have been trying to get television decently tailored—enough studios, stages and rehearsal space. The Hollywood TV facilities of network television have been magnificently expanded—one reason that it has looked as if Los Angeles would monopolize the production end of the industry as shows moved west.

In New York City where rents are high and space is at a premium, the networks have converted radio studios to TV by crowding in cameras and other cumbersome equipment. They have rented and bought theaters for the shows which use audiences. Rehearsals have been and are held in all sorts of places, from offices to rented banquet halls. Performers and crews have grumbled about the inconvenient, out-of-the-way locations of rehearsal halls.

While the New York facilities are still inadequate, they are gradually getting better. Each network either leases or owns two or three theaters for its network variety and audience-participation shows — Perry Como's, Garry Moore's, Ed Sullivan's, "The Price is Right," "What's My Line?" and the Johnny Carson Show, for instance.

NBC has two huge studios in Brooklyn which pretty well take care of their eastern-produced dramatic shows and specials. ABC has a center with five studios in midtown. CBS has augmented its headquarters studios with others in a remodeled meeting-hall building.

Now, however, CBS wants to bring under one roof seven studios and complete production facilities. If the plan goes through, the new building would be finished in 1964.

At least this indicates the CBS still plans to produce shows in New York. And, perhaps, if New York's production facilities reach a point where they are on a par with those of Hollywood, we might be treated to a return of those stimulating, live dramas which were once New York's TV specialty.

It certainly sounded as if Art Linkletter, earnestly selling a fruit drink every few minutes during NBC's Tournament of Roses Parade coverage, was suffering from a heavy head cold while talking about how vitamin stuffed and health-making the product was. Next Sunday's Dinah Shore Show will not, after all, be a program she filmed last summer in Copenhagen but something new with Fabian and Wayne and Shuster. Could it be that big names win better ratings than travelogues? Incidentally, her substitutes last Sunday—George Gobel, Peggy Lee and Frankie Avalon—produced a bright, spirited and light-hearted hour of entertainment, the kind of show Dinah herself was turning in two seasons back.

Farmer Leaves After 9 Years Spent In Jail

WOODLAND, Calif. (AP)—Former Kansas farmer Fred Block, 67, who spend the last nine years in jail here rather than make child support payments to his ex-wife, left rather reluctantly Tuesday.

He hitched a ride to nearby Sacramento with a reporter, saying he is "getting out of the State of California."

"I may go back to Kansas," he said.

But Superior Court Judge Chester C. McDonald made sure Block would return at least once by setting a Jan. 16 hearing on disposition of $1,100 in Social Security checks that accumulated while Block was in jail.

It has cost Yolo County $11,340 to keep Block in jail. The daughter for whom the original support payments were intended has grown up and married.

partment and the City Government, as all Departments of the City fall under the jurisdiction of the City Government, and are controlled by various ordinances.

"It is felt that the public should be advised of the action that the City Council is now taking in regards to this ordinance, as it is deemed a necessity, not only to protect the public from possible excessive water costs, but at the same time protect the Board in its operations and the investment which the taxpayers have in the Water Department. It should be further noted that this action, as taken by the Council, should not be construed as a reflection on the manager or the members of the Board.

"A joint meeting of the City Council, members of the Water Department, and engineers of Black and Veatch has been set for January 9. The purpose of the meeting is to review the requirements of the Water Department, to verify various operations and to further determine if the increase, now requested, is warranted at this time. It is only fair that the public should be informed that it is possible that as a result of the meeting a greater portion of the 35% that is now being requested will have to be granted. If the Council finds this increase necessary, it will have no alternative other than to grant an additional water rate increase.

"We have been studying the engineers' report which was used as a basis for purchasing the Water Company and we are analyzing the three years of Water Company detail, also the engineers' report for the past three years," Smith concluded.

Councilman Raymond Roberts then took the floor and took issue with the Sedalia Democrat-Capital in reference to an editorial which appeared regarding the wrangle over the 35-percent increase of rates. In the editorial it was suggested a meeting be held between the Council and Board of Public Works.

Roberts contended the Council met the same day the editorial appeared in print and at that time he suggested such a meeting and plans made for the meeting were already in motion. He brought out that a later news story inferred the meeting was arranged after the newspaper had made the suggestion in the editorial, which, he contended, led the people to believe it was the newspaper's idea.

Councilman Jack Cunningham then spoke briefly and said the Council was making a move in the right direction in face of the recently appointed Industrial Committee. "This will greatly help to encourage industry to come here," Cunningham said.

Mayor Silverman then commented: "The Council and I thought that the passage of this Ordinance was necessary, since we are not at this time convinced that the increase in water rates proposed by the Board of Public Works is justified.

"It is not our intention to tell the Board of Public Works how to operate the Water Department, but we do feel that the increase should be fully discussed. To this end, a meeting has been arranged between the interested parties, January 9th. As a result of this meeting, the Council may decide that a greater increase than the 5% allowed by this Ordinance may be justified. If this is the case, I am sure that the Council will allow the necessary increase," Silverman said.

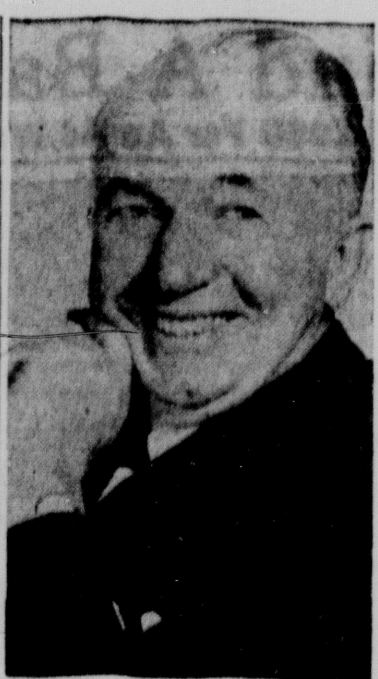

John Zulauf, 32nd and Grand avenue, took the floor and explained he resided outside the city, but took city water. He praised the Council on the stand it has taken in the water rate increase, and pledged his support to the Council on the stand.

R. M. Battles, 1715 South Beacon, himself a former councilman, spoke in defense of the Council's action in passing the ordinance. He told the Council and audience he has lived in Sedalia many, many years and did not appreciate the "high handed attitude of the Board of Public Works and especially the boards action in going over the head of the Council."

Battles said the Board had "grossly over-reached its seeming authority." Continuing he said, "I want to commend the City Council and Mayor Silverman in looking after the public interest."

He asked about the January 9 meeting between the Council and Board and desired to know if it would be an open meeting. Mayor Silverman explained it was a meeting for the two groups to discuss the matter and it being their first, the meeting would be a closed one.

Silverman said, "If a satisfactory agreement is not reached, definitely a public meeting would be held." He also assured Battles that a meeting would be held for

Court to Set Support Amount In Crosby Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dennis Crosby expects to learn today how much he will pay for support of a 3-year-old girl born out of wedlock.

A lawyer told the court Tuesday that Dennis should contribute $700 a month. He said the child's mother has $2.50 and is 22 cents overdrawn at the bank.

Attorney Milton Zerlin, representing Marilyn Miller Scott, said crooner Bing Crosby's son is worth $750,000.

In addition to the monthly payments, he asked that Dennis pay $7,500 with which the divorcee can buy a car and furniture and move to better quarters than the one-bedroom apartment she now occupies with the child.

Lowest Traffic Toll on Weekend Since Year 1953

CHICAGO (AP) — The New Year's weekend traffic accidents claimed 338 lives, but the toll was the lowest for a three-day New Year's holiday since 1953, when 317 traffic deaths were counted.

Fires claimed 66 lives from 6 p.m. last Friday to midnight Monday (local time), and miscellaneous accidents accounted for 78 more deaths, for an over-all accidental death toll of 482.

The National Safety Council, which had estimated 340 traffic fatalities for the extended weekend, said probably 14,000 more motorists and pedestrians suffered disabling injuries during the holiday period.

The record toll for a three-day New Year's holiday is 374, set last year.

Mobile Puts Teeth In Its Closing Law

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Starting next Sunday, the Mobile County grand jury has ordered arrest of any businessman who violates the state's Sunday closing law.

The law exempts drugstores, service stations, delicatessens and some other businesses. Some grocers have said this was not fair in view of the wide variety of items carried by some of the exempt businesses. The grocers said they plan to remain open as long as such businesses do.

Failure In Compromising Fundamental In Civil War

Editor's Note—Ordinarily in the United States, a political convention gives opposing factions a chance to blow off steam. Instead of this, the 1860 Democratic convention built up an unendurable pressure. In the second of four articles, a famous historian explains who this exception to the rule prepared the path to war.

By BRUCE CATTON

Written for The Associated Press

Compromise is an unpopular word. It seems to mean that you are rather wishy-washy—you don't have the courage of your convictions, you won't dig in your heels for a final stand.

But we do need to remember that compromise is what enables democracy to work. It enables us to face up to questions which, left to themselves, would become explosive.

In 1860 nobody tried to find a compromise over the slavery issue—nobody seemed willing even to talk over the possibility of a compromise—and there was no compromise.

The Democrats, holding their convention in Charleston, S.C., promptly got into a dog-fight that wrecked the party beyond repair.

Here was the party that offered the brightest hope for a solution, simply because it was the one truly national party at that time. It was strong in the North and the South alike; it embraced all shades of feeling in regard to slavery, and its leading candidate for the nomination, Sen. Stephen A. Douglas, of Illinois, was eagerly trying to find a middle-of-the-road approach.

Douglas had the strange notion that the country had important things to do and that it ought to get on with the job without wasting all of its energies in the argument over slavery; he said quite frankly that he himself did not care whether slavery was voted up or down, just as long as it was somehow disposed of.

That was exactly Sen. Douglas's problem. He wanted a compromise approach at a time when nobody wanted to compromise. He was in an old-fashioned political fight, involving nothing much loftier than a struggle for party control; but he was also caught up in the fact that too many people had taken extreme positions and refused to hear any talk of compromise. Consider what the senator from Illinois was up against.

Leaders from the cotton South wanted a flat declaration, in the party platform and from the lips of the candidate, in favor of the extreme pro-slavery position—slavery was untouchable, and the question of restraining or modifying the institution in any way must not even be discussed.

Douglas and the Northern Democrats would accept nothing of the kind. They wanted a broad statement of the kind which ordinarily is dear to the politician's heart—something that would mean almost anything anyone wanted it to mean, on the ground that if this problem could just be side-tracked for a few years it would eventually come down to manageable proportions. Under pressure from Southern pro-slavery extremists, they were also under pressure from Northern anti-slavery extremists. Somewhere between the extremes, they believed, the coming election could be won.

Usually, in such a situation, a political convention blows off steam for a time and then works something out. This time that proved impossible; instead of blowing off steam, this convention built up an unendurable pressure—and, in the end, broke squarely in half. The Northern half of the party nominated Sen. Douglas, and the Southern half nominated John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky. It immediately became obvious that as a result the Republicans were going to win the election.

The Republicans guided themselves accordingly. Convening in Chicago, they did no bother with much debate. Declaring flatly that slavery was wrong and must eventually go, they nominated Abraham Lincoln and set out, with immense singleness of purpose, to pick up the victory which the Democrats had dropped in their laps.

Now another party took form—the Constitutional Union party, which wanted to preserve the Union and nominated John Bell of Tennessee, with a platform calling simply for reverence to the Constitution and the federal union—a creed to which almost anybody could subscribe. And then the campaign got under way.

The campaign shed no light whatever, because nobody wanted to talk about the one shattering issue.

Lincoln refused to make any speeches at all, on the ground that his position already was clear. Bell upheld the Constitution and expressed the hope that brothers would not quarrel. Breckinridge defied anyone to show that he had ever said one word against the Union and then lapsed into a silence as all-embracing as Lincoln's. Sen. Douglas did try to make a debate out of it; he made many speeches, the substance of them being that it would be absurd to break up the Union when there was more important work to do. Apparently nobody paid much attention.

In any case, neither the political conventions nor the campaign brought any real discussion of the underlying issue. There were many speeches and editorials, most of them consisting simply of denunciations of the opposition.

Political marching clubs were formed, to parade and cheer and make music. Nowhere in the record of that 1860 campaign can you find any real effort by anybody to bring the terrible problem out into the open and explore the possibilities of a settlement.

The Southern extremists said that if the anti-slavery crowd won the election the Southern states

GETS HIGH POST—President-elect John F. Kennedy announced in Palm Beach, Fla., the appointment of Robert C. Weaver, 51, of New York City, as administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency. would secede; the Northern extremists said that this was nonsense—just empty talk raised for political effect. Lincoln kept silent. The Constitutional Union party deplored all of the angry talk, and Sen. Douglas—the only candidate who really got on the stump and tried to make a campaign of it—found that in the North he was running against Lincoln, and in the South against Breckinridge.

In the end, of course, Lincoln was elected, with a solid electoral majority and a solid majority of the popular vote. But the trouble now was that this election, with everything that had gone before, had simply brought things to a head instead of providing a solution for anything.

Kinship of Night Workers Not Enjoyed By Day Group

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Night people know a kinship rare to day people.

As our civilization grows more complex, more and more people have to work odd hours to keep it operating.

To the sailor at sea, the pilot in the air, the lifeguard at the beach, the professional athlete in the stadium, the lion tamer and the clown in the circus, Saturday and Sunday are just two more days in the week.

And to about one-sixth of America's laboring millions duty begins after the sun goes down. They earn their paychecks in the dark.

They clean the offices, guard the streets, collect the garbage, keep the home fires burning while most of us sleep. They prepare our day for living while we slumber.

If you have never worked at night—if you have always worked a 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. day—you have missed a great adventure in living.

The advantage is comradeship on the job. You get the feeling of unity a platoon enjoys in war. There is a freemasonry that doesn't quite exist on a day job.

In the newspaper world the overnight tour of duty is known as "the lobster trick." No one knows for sure how the term originated. One theory is that it was coined by a forgotten ironic newsman in the Gay Nineties who had to arrive at his desk at midnight when the playboys of that era were sitting down to their lobster and champagne.

But whoever works the lobster trick knows a joy foreign to the peasants prisoned by the sunbeam hours.

For three years long ago I worked from midnight until 8 o'clock in the morning, and never in my life since have I known quite the same sense of freedom.

Night brings a mystic union to those who work through it together. They are knit by the bond of the unusual. They are separate from the rest of sleeping mankind. They are superior. They are alive and awake. They belong to each other. And they know it.

There is small tension and little hurry. The job is there to do, and there is leisure to do it well.

No one leans over your shoulder. You are on your own. The big boss is at home adrift in drowse. He has to be. Otherwise he would be impossibly lonely. No one likes to be lonely at night, even when he is working.

The night worker feels the pity of a king to a serf as he hands over the sovereignty of the office to the haggard, sleepy-eyed day worker who replaces him, the serf whose duty is just beginning. The night worker has quelled one of mankind's oldest foes—the darkness. His duty behind him, he washes his face and hands, puts on his hat and coat and steps into the bright sunshine of the new day, as free and proud as a lark tilting at heaven. He is different from other people.
